He rises

What happened? Why did you scream?

(3 next)

she rises

PERI: That thing we thought was an animal attacked me. And it's human, I think.

THE DOCTOR: If you hadn't screamed I wouldn't have triggered that stun jet. I was expecting there'd be one. It can't be human. They haven't reached this part of the galaxy.

FROM THE STUN JET)

(1 to Pos.H)

THE DOCTOR: Vorum gas. An ordinary person would have been unconscious for hours.

PERI: So would you if I hadn't pulled you clear of it.

THE DOCTOR: No, I closed my respiratory passages the moment I detected the danger.

PERI: Then how do you breathe?

THE DOCTOR: With difficulty. I'll explain it to you one day.

(HE LOOKS DOWN
AT THE RAGGED SHAPE)

They stop & look

THE DOCTOR: I am interested in everything. But mainly, at

Mr. Botcherby, you may well have

Perhaps you will lead us to this hacienda?

ANITA: Of course. It's this way.

OSCAR: Should we, my dear?
It's easy to find, officer. If you follow this road ...

ANITA: We ought to show them,
Oscar. It's not easy to find.

OSCAR: I was thinking these men might be danger ... I mean I was thinking we ought to get

ANITA: We've plenty of time.

THE DOCTOR: You'll be doing a

JAMIE: Doctor, I've just collars?

THE DOCTOR: I couldn't describe it any closer myself, Jamie.

JAMIE: Then she was on the space station!

JAMIE: Dastari said she was a - what was it - Androgum.

THE DOCTOR: Of course! Now you mention it - though her features hadn't the heaviness of the typical Androgum.

JAMIE: He said he'd done some operations that had turned her into a genius.

THE DOCTOR: What a stupid thing to do!

JAMIE: That's what the Doctor said.

THE DOCTOR: Well, I was right. Whatever he did for her mind her nature would remain the same - and Androgums have about as much emotional capacity as crocodiles.

PERI: What's the next move, Doctor?

THE DOCTOR: We have to get into that house without being detected.

ANITA: I know a secret way into the cellars. It used to run from the old ice-house.

PERI: You're doing it again, aren't you?

THE DOCTOR: Doing what?

PERI: Never mind. What sort of distraction?

THE DOCTOR: Do I have to think of everything? Knock on the door and say you're lost. Ask for directions, a glass of water, anything. Just keep them busy, all right?

PERI: I don't speak Spanish.

THE DOCTOR: Don't worry. They're not Spaniards. Anita, show us the way to this ice-house.

PERI: What do I do if a Sontaran answers the door?

She starts to run
towards the trees.

SHOCKEYE smiles. He races in pursuit.

THE DOCTOR: They've got it almost exactly right. Even down to the briodenebuliser, look.

JAMIE in from f/gL crosses to R T.I. as he moves up & behind R of DOCTOR

JAMIE: What is it, Doctor?

THE DOCTOR: The Kartz-
Reimer version of a Tardis.

JAMIE: Aye, but will it work?

THE DOCTOR: It would if I used it - or any Time Lord.
But not for anyone else.

JAMIE: Why not?

He turns to face
JAMIE

THE DOCTOR: These machines have to be primed. We call it the Rassilon Imprimature
- that's a sort of symbiotic print within the physiology of Time Lords. But once that's absorbed into the briode-nebuliser you have a time machine anyone can use.
Of course, that's the bit
they didn't understand.
They've simply copied the technology without realising that old Rassilon had a second trick up his sleeve.

TELECINE 11:

Ext. Hacienda Grounds.
Day.

PERI racing through the trees, branches
catching at her clothes.
She keeps glancing fearfully back.

She trips and falls.
Lies panting for a second, then starts
to get up.

SHOCKEYE is above her, smiling. He holds out a coaxing hand.

SHOCKEYE: Pretty-pretty ...
Here, my pretty one ...

ON PERI frozen with fear as SHOCKEYE bends over her.
